

Physical Wellbeing Set of Unicorn Bottles – Chakra Set

The colours you are attracted to are the colours that will help your wellbeing.

In massaging on the coloured oils you have chosen, you are treating the cause behind the problem or dis-ease.

Unicorn Essences are a colour therapy where you select your own colours. The colours you are drawn to are the colours that you need and that will help you. Deep within at a subconscious level we all know ourselves and what is needed to make us well.

The Unicorn Essences are made of natural, living colour, from the vibration of crystals, plants and other forms of nature. The herbal watery part of plants are in the base colour, and the essential oils are in the top colour. Other vibrations such as sound are also infused in the essences. There are 22 levels of the colour vibration in each essence.

When the dual coloured oils are massaged on, the healing vibrations within each essence energises the physical body, calms and balances the emotions, bringing your whole system into harmony.

The colour can also be applied as a the mist spray to balance the Light Body.