

Purpose in Life- Wayne Dwyer

"Somewhere, buried deep within each of us, is a call to purpose. It's not always rational, not always clearly delineated, and sometimes even seemingly absurd, but the knowing is there.

There's a silent knowing within that intends you to express yourself. That something is your soul telling you to listen and connect through love, kindness and receptivity. That silent inner knowing, or infinite intelligence, will never leave you alone. It wants you to take the risks involved, and to ignore your ego and the egos of others who tell you that an easier, safer or more secure path is best for you."

On a soul level we are colour. We are innately drawn to certain colours. If we can ascertain the meaning of these colours, we are decoding our deep inner knowing which knows our purpose in life, our soul's calling to follow a certain path.

In Colour for Life and Soul Power Kinesiology learn to interpret your colour choices and how to use colour and energy healing to consciously align to your soul purpose.

There is also available, a variety of colour coded essences, which when applied, align and raise our vibration in accordance with our inner soul vibration
